

ILMAC 2022

Networking and Knowledge Sharing within the Chemical and Life Science Community

The community of the chemical and life science industry is coming together in Lausanne for the fourth time on September 28 and 29, 2022, to present knowledge, innovations, trends and new products. The trade visitors of ILMAC LAUSANNE can expect the leading suppliers from the chemical, pharmaceutical, biotechnology, food, cosmetics, agrochemical, environmental and plastics industries.

Around 150 of the leading industry suppliers will present new products, innovate services and fascinating solutions. “We’re excited to once again offer the industry a platform in Western Switzerland this September to exchange thoughts, network, and present new products and solutions. The forum addresses current trends and developments in the industry and focuses on the omnipresent topic of sustainability,” says Céline Futterknecht, Brand Director of ILMAC.

Networking and Knowledge Sharing within the Chemical and Life Science Community

The focus of this year’s ILMAC Forum is sustainability. Presentations will be held to discuss sustainability in the life science sector as well as sustainable solutions in laboratories and production facilities. The forum is organized in close collaboration with the Swiss Chemical Society (SCS) and BioAlps. You can expect to see top-class speakers. You’ll have plenty of networking opportunities during lunch and at the networking aperitif with background music. The networking aperitif is sponsored by Metrohm. The new feature this year is the ILMAC connect – Job Wall. You can use this space to post job vacancies directly on site, as well as digitally on our platform.

Tickets: You can register for the event online as of the beginning of summer 2022 at: www.ilmac.ch. You’ll receive free event entry including lunch when you redeem the Prio code “welcome-ilmac22”.

ILMAC brings the industry together – in person and online

ILMAC not only brings the industry together in person in Basel and Lausanne, but also offers a year-round meeting point online. Experts can stay up to date via the ILMAC digital platform and contact companies and service providers directly. Leading providers publish their innovations, videos, expertise, events and much more here. Information available at: www.ilmac.ch
